

Webalo mobilizes enterprise applications and data in minutes, delivering secure bi-directional, transactional interactivity 100x faster and at a fraction of the cost of traditional mobile application development.

Webalo is enterprise mobility made easy. It uses a simple point-and-click, web-based process that anyone can master to connect smartphones and tablets to the enterprise applications and data you already have. Every enterprise-to-mobile connection can run on any Android, Apple, BlackBerry, or Windows mobile device through a single, secure mobile client, and each connection gives mobile employees the exact data and functions they need to whiz through tasks and workflows more productively – all for pennies an app.

Create an infinite number of connections, tasks, and workflows and run them through a single, universal client app on smartphones and tablets.

Webalo Advantages for IT Professionals

Meeting the demands of every business unit's mobility requests for access to databases, reports, XML Web services, and websites is an overwhelming burden for IT. Yet Webalo lets you meet each one so quickly and easily that you'll exceed all expectations for delivery and deployment.

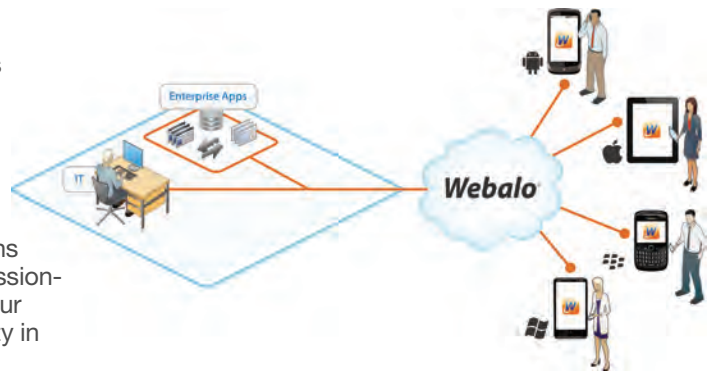

Webalo Advantages for Business Users

In minutes, Webalo can put interactive, bi-directional, transactional access to IBM, Microsoft, Oracle, SAP, Salesforce.com, and in-house custom-built applications on the smartphone or tablet you already use – securely. Productivity never improved so fast.

Any Data. Any Device. Any Minute.

Give employees productivity-enhancing, individualized access to the enterprise data, tasks, and workflows they rely on – the business mobility capabilities that simplify and streamline their work.

Webalo's speed, simplicity, and savings start right away. Go online for a free account, watch the introductory videos and, in minutes, you're ready to start configuring mobile connections to existing enterprise applications and data. Extend the permission-based security you already use, then simply click to deploy your configured access immediately, giving users enterprise mobility in minutes, instead of days or weeks or months.

Webalo Cloud is a free service that provides Enterprise Mobility in Minutes™ for up to three users. It lets them create any number of secure enterprise-to-mobile connections for direct, bi-directional, transactional access between enterprise databases and reports and Android, Apple, BlackBerry, and Windows smartphones and tablets. Webalo Cloud accommodates multiple IT or non-IT administrators who can quickly and easily implement user-specific enterprise mobility while reducing the time, cost, and complexity associated with traditional mobile application development, maintenance and updates.

Webalo Pro Cloud is a subscription-based service that, for a simple per-user annual fee, enables Enterprise Mobility in Minutes™ for any number of mobile users. It lets them create unlimited secure enterprise-to-mobile connections that provide direct, bi-directional, transactional access between the enterprise databases and reports they rely on and their Android, Apple, BlackBerry, and Windows smartphones and tablets. Webalo Pro Cloud accommodates multiple IT or non-IT administrators who can quickly and easily implement user-specific enterprise mobility while reducing the time, cost, and complexity associated with traditional mobile application development, maintenance and updates. Webalo Pro Cloud includes Webalo Gateway.

Webalo Gateway provides maximum security for Webalo Pro Cloud customers. It is installed inside the firewall and functions as a Webalo Administrator-controlled checkpoint between Webalo's cloud-based servers and the customer's enterprise resources, securely managing communications between the two. Webalo Gateway ensures that users have permission to perform those interactions before processing them and returning information to Webalo Pro Cloud for access by the authorized user.

Webalo Pro Appliance is an on-premises subscription-based service that, for a simple per-user annual fee, enables Enterprise Mobility in Minutes for any number of mobile users. It lets them create unlimited secure enterprise-to-mobile connections that provide direct, bi-directional, transactional access between the enterprise databases, reports and applications they rely on and their Android, Apple, BlackBerry, and Windows smartphones and tablets. Webalo Pro Appliance accommodates multiple IT or non-IT administrators who can quickly and easily implement user-specific enterprise mobility while reducing the time, cost, and complexity associated with traditional mobile application development, maintenance and updates.

Webalo Pro Appliance is delivered as a virtual machine image and runs on all leading virtualization platforms (hypervisors) that support 64-bit guest operating systems, including Xen® and VMware®, and Microsoft Windows Server® 2008 Hyper-V.™

Webalo provides direct connections to:

Databases – Webalo enables mobile access to any of the leading enterprise databases (Oracle, Microsoft SQL Server, IBM DB2, & MySQL). Existing database SQL commands are automatically imported into Webalo so that administrators can easily enable real-time, mobile database access.

Reports – Reports from business intelligence platforms or other enterprise applications can be imported into Webalo and configured for delivery to smartphones and/or tablets in minutes.

XML Web Services – Webalo automatically consumes XML Web services to connect directly to business processes, tasks and workflows found in enterprise applications from vendors such as IBM, Microsoft, Oracle, SAP, Salesforce.com, and in-house, custom-built applications.

Websites – Webalo talks to HTML web sites and lets companies create a mobile interface to an existing application by capturing the application's web interface and generating a smartphone or tablet interface that provides users with secure mobile access to any web-facing enterprise application.
